

BRIGHTON WOK

Brighton Wok: The Legend of Ganja Boxing

Website: <http://www.brighton-wok.com>
Released: 2008
Length: 90 mins
Director: Gabriel Howard
IMDB: <http://www.imdb.com/title/tt1233253/>
RRP: £9.99
DVD: Widescreen presentation with 5.1 surround sound

About the Film

Ninjas are taking over Brighton. Terrorising locals, killing hippies, blocking supplies of marijuana.

Can The Chosen One learn the ancient martial art of Ganja Boxing to save his home town and avenge his past?

First, he must find The Ganja Master.

The British surprise hit of the 2000's, Brighton Wok is a micro-budget, independent feature film available on widescreen DVD with 5.1 surround sound.

A Stoner Film and Kung Fu comedy set – incongruously – in an English seaside resort and inspired by comic culture and 80's movies.

Brighton Wok was filmed all over Sussex, with locations including: The Hundred Acre Wood (Winnie the Pooh), Chanctonbury Ring, Devils' Dyke, Seaford, Beachy Head, Ditchling Beacon, Woodingdean, Harrison's Rocks, all over Brighton and of course Hove.

Selling online and at independent video shops across the world, featured at film festivals and events across Europe and America, Brighton Wok has become a true cult classic.

Last updated: August 23, 2010

<http://convictfilms.com/>